

Public School Board Honors Teacher For Service To Citizens

Miriam Ryman And Mary Lou Little Receive Recognition For Past Year's Achievements

Retired principal of the Alexander Muir public school, Miss Nellie Holladay was honored at a joint meeting of the public school board and the Home and School Association at the Stuart Scott school on Friday evening.

Rev. J. A. Koffend, chairman of the public school board, presided. "The record of her pupils is a memorial to her," said Mr. Koffend. "So many pupils have passed under her sphere of influence. She has given great service to the public. It is difficult to serve the public and yet there are times when it gives great satisfaction."

Mr. Koffend recalled that when Miss Holladay resigned he asked her to reconsider her decision and to carry on for at least another year.

"It is not the teacher that counts," said Miss Holladay in accepting a lamp presented to her by Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards on behalf of the board. "It is the talent and industry of the pupil that matter. I have done nothing to distinguish myself."

"I have enjoyed my teaching and now I am enjoying my leisure," Mr. Koffend replied that the teacher provided "inspiration."

Headmaster Joseph McCulley of Pickering College said: "There must be inspiration and a good deal of perspiration on the part of the teacher."

Mr. McCulley read the following message from Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, addressed to Mr. Koffend: "I want to thank you for your kind invitation to the reception in honor of Miss N. Holladay at the conclusion of a long and successful teaching career in Newmarket."

"I regret that owing to a previous engagement, namely, an inquest, it is impossible for me to be present and add something to the appreciation which the whole municipality feels towards Miss Holladay for the long and exceedingly successful service as a teacher."

"Would you be kind enough to extend to her from myself as head of the municipality and also as a citizen my best wishes and the thanks of the whole town for such consistent and memorable work."

In paying tribute to Miss Holladay Mr. McCulley read a quotation from William Lyon Phelps: "I do not know that I could make entirely clear to an outsider the pleasure I have in teaching. I had rather earn my living by teaching than in any other way. In my mind, teaching is not merely a life-work, a profession, an occupation, a

VISITOR IS IMPRESSED WITH PICKERING LIVESTOCK

Registered Yorkshires from the farm of Pickering College have been making a name for themselves in the advanced registry slaughter texts and judging from recent sales their high rating is being acknowledged by buyers from the U.S.A.

About the middle of August S. W. King, the farm manager, shipped five head of young Yorkshires to Major G. L. Lloyd of New York City for the Lloyd Boswell Farms.

Recently Prof. J. P. Willman of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., visited Ontario looking for breeding stock for the University farm, and of six young sows he purchased in Ontario he selected two from Pickering College farm. These are direct descendants of old "Pickering Princess," the foundation sow of the herd, now nursing her twelfth litter of little porkers. Health regulations required that these young gilts going across to New York state had to be tested for T.B. and Bang's Disease and inoculated for hog cholera. They were shipped on receipt of "passports" from the U.S. consular office in Toronto.

Mr. King was congratulated by Prof. Willman on the excellence of the herds of Holsteins and Yorkshires developed on the farm and made special comment on the swine improvement work being done by the breeders of Ontario.

Other important work of Yorkshires from this herd include a consignment of ten last year to Newfoundland, where the young weanlings arrived in good condition after an eight-day trip in crates by rail and boat. Then last May nine head of older stock for the foundation of a new herd were shipped to Merle Green of Elsie, Michigan.

SKUNK STAYS IN TOWN

A "beautiful skunk" is making his home under the porch of James Cullen's house at 58 Niagara St. He has been seen playing with cats of the neighborhood. He is sometimes seen on Niagara St. sidewalks, his hand some brush high in the air.

Suggestions as to how to capture him are invited by Mr. Cullen.

ALL OILED UP AND NO PLACE TO GO—$1,100

What should be done with $1,100 levied for road oil but not spent, Councillor Frank Bowser, chairman of the road and bridge committee, asked the town council Monday evening.

"Should we spend it for sidewalks?" Mr. Bowser asked.

"Have you the men?" asked Reeve F. A. Lundy.

"We might have," replied Mr. Bowser. He said that he would like to set the money aside for post-war sidewalk construction.

"We set it aside and another group of men come along in a couple of years and spend it for something altogether different," said Councillor Joseph Vale.

"It is not so simple a matter that we can just take the money and spend it for sidewalks," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

"No, there is a proper procedure to follow," said Reeve Lundy.

This organization is making an effort to send a Christmas parcel to each of these soldier, sailor or airman employees. "It will take a lot of money," said Mr. Hilt.

The company has given the fine prizes which are on view at Smith's Hardware. The winners will be announced at Smith's at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 30.

"Good Business Practice Today Insures Tomorrow"

VISION, COURAGE WILL REWARD BUSINESS, SAYS H. G. PATTERSON

"Today's vision and courage insure tomorrow's better business," Harold G. Patterson, treasurer of the Newmarket Retail Merchants' Association, said this week.

"Recent government statistics show that there is a decline in the number of businesses in this dominion of Canada," said Mr. Patterson. "It is true that a small percentage of these may have been affected by military measures. A number may have become insolvent. It is evident, too, that many more have been fearful of new government regulations affecting business."

"However, the Canadian government is mindful of Canadian business. It knows full well that the individual business man will be one of the greatest assets that this country can have in the new order. The man who stands firm in sound business practice today, showing vision coupled with courage, giving full co-operation, will be the successful business man in the post-war period."

"The Newmarket Retail Merchants' Association can benefit every merchant and consumer in this town. As a business organization, it aims to clarify existing problems, as well as give individual and collective encouragement. It desires to bring about fuller co-operation between merchants and create a better understanding between merchants and customers.

"The Association is for every measure that will improve present-day business conditions and insure a better business future in Newmarket."

COUNCIL BACKS CONSTABLE IN COURT STAND

Comment on an editorial in the Stouffville Tribune was made this week by N. L. Mathews, K.C., crown attorney, when requested by The Era and Express to explain the Whitechurch township discussion of slot-machines.

Whitechurch township council at its last meeting appointed a delegation to interview the attorney-general concerning the destruction of slot-machines after seizure and conviction. The council apparently acted after hearing representations by Township Constable Robert Windsor.

"The magistrate makes an order of confiscation at the time of conviction," explained Mr. Mathews. "The machine or machines then remain in the custody of the court clerk for a period of 30 days, the length of time for appeal, and then are destroyed by the clerk."

"Any money found in the machines is turned over to the province."

"In this instance I am informed that the constable took the machines away and has been asked to return them to the court."

The Stouffville Tribune says: "Because of certain aspects surrounding the seizure of slot-machines in Whitechurch township by the local police, the municipal council considered it advisable last week to confer with the attorney-general's department respecting the disposition of the machines in custody, and if reports are reliable the department did not entirely solve the matter for the council."

"It seems to be the custom that when slot-machines are seized and a conviction registered, the presiding magistrate issues an order for the demolition of the machines by the constable or constables making the seizure. In this case the court at Newmarket did not make any such order, and there is a hint that the county police are endeavoring to get hold of the machines seized in Whitechurch. When demolished these machines might contain a dollar or $100 and this is supposed to be turned over to the crown."

"In view of this fact the machines ought to be opened in the presence of several official parties. If such a course was required by the attorney-general's department there would be no scramble about who did the opening."

"A little more publicity on the slot-machine game in York county would be wholesome. It is needed, otherwise it would not be necessary for a municipal council to take up the fight on behalf of its township constables, who claim they are not getting the whole-hearted support of the Newmarket council."

A. M. Mills, court clerk, told The Era and Express that technically he and the magistrate were supposed to destroy the machines, but that in practice the York county police chief, George Stuart, had carried it out, turned the money contents over to himself, Mr. Mills, and that he had forwarded the money to the province.

Say Newmarket Now Has 174 Boys Out Of Canada In Services

Saving Heat At Town Hall Causes Financial Problem For Veterans' Comforts Fund

"If the town hall is going to be closed, that is going to hit us pretty hard," President Alf. Smith of the Newmarket Veterans' Association told Newmarket town council on Monday evening.

Euchres held in the town hall are a chief source of revenue, said Mr. Smith.

"We are sending cigarettes to 174 boys overseas," said Mr. Smith. "At Christmas time we send parcels that cost us from $800 to $1,000."

"The parents appreciate it. And the boys overseas appreciate it, as you can see from their letters in the paper. Newmarket is one of the best towns, so far as treatment of the boys overseas is concerned."

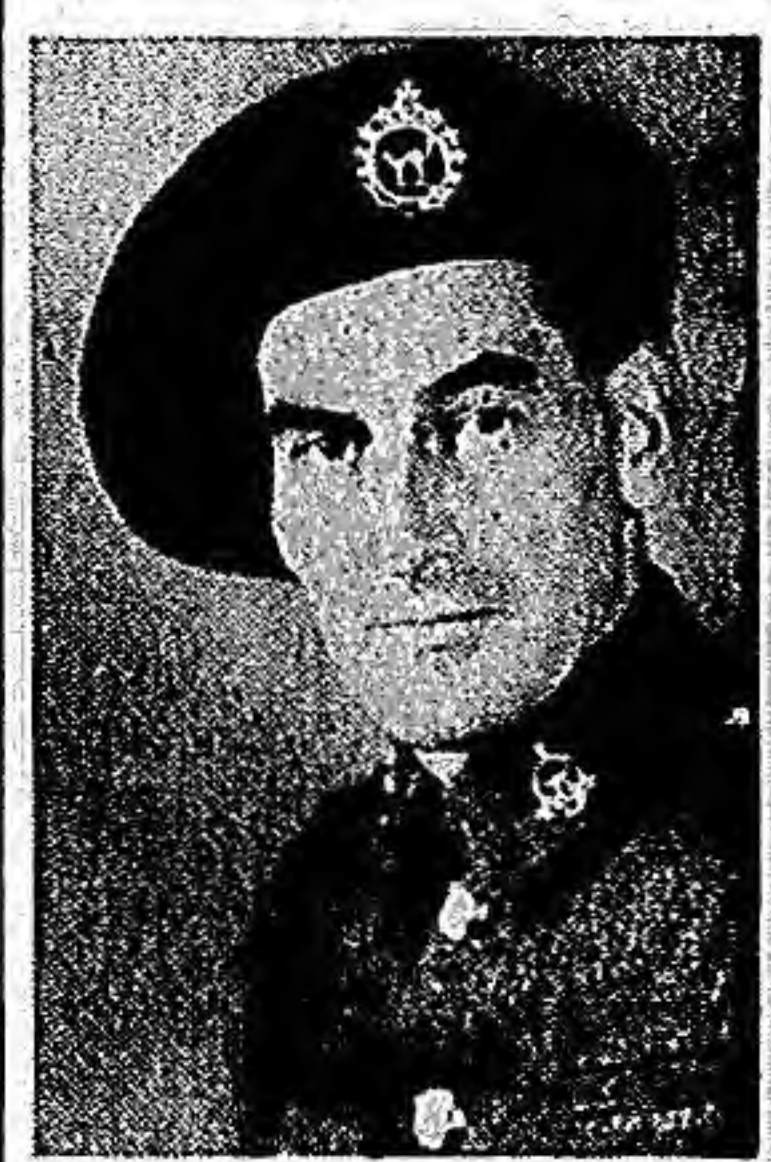

On the suggestion of Reeve F. A. Lundy and Deputy Reeve A. D. Evans, the matter was referred to the property committee.

W. H. Winger wrote the town offering $25 for an 80-foot lot known as the Tunney property adjoining the Haskell property on Andrew St. Reeve Lundy said that it would have to be advertised before it could be sold.

The council agreed to accept payment of outstanding 1928 taxes of $97.72 on the property of Miss M. A. Ironside on Eagle St. without penalty. Miss Ironside had paid taxes for all other years and previously had believed that she had paid the 1928 taxes, said Clerk N. L. Mathews.

The council reduced the assessment of Mrs. Florence Foster

Saw Action With Gerald Blight, Missed Fatal Trip

WESTERNER SENT BACK TO CANADA TO BE INSTRUCTOR

Fit-Sgt. Clifford Anderson, who was a bombardier in the same flight as Fit-Sgt. Gerald Blight, Newmarket, who was killed in action overseas, called on Fit-Sgt. Blight's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Blight, last week.

Fit-Sgt. Anderson told Mrs. Blight that they made ten trips over enemy territory together. He was unable to fly on Gerald's last flight because of illness.

On their first trip over enemy territory, Fit-Sgt. Anderson said they never made their objective (Bremen) but were able to land on the Isle of Wight. The next night, on their way to Essen, they were attacked again and succeeded in shooting down one German plane.

Fit-Sgt. Anderson and Fit-Sgt. Blight left Halifax together to go overseas. Fit-Sgt. Anderson's home is in southern Saskatchewan and he is now at Rockcliffe, Ottawa, and expects to be posted to a Canadian flying school as an instructor.

APPRECIATES CIGARETTES

"Many thanks for the 300 cigarettes," P.O. J. I. Atkins says in a card of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "You have no idea how much the boys over here appreciate the efforts of you boys who were over here last time. After a long flight nothing is appreciated more than a good Canadian cigarette. Keep up the good work and let's hope we can all have a real get-together in the very near future."

DREAMING DREAMS

Wendell Willkie says that the good coming out of this war will be pretty well limited to the post-war planning that is done while the war is in progress. Now is the time to plan and get people to agree to co-operate in doing new things.

We in Newmarket could do a lot for our town by just sitting down together and doing a little planning, a little dreaming. If you dream a dream there is always a chance of it coming true.

For example, the motor-car industry, busily engaged in war production at the moment, is planning radically new cars, not for the first post-war year but for, say, five years after the war is over. In the course of its dreaming the Canadian industry guesses that annual sales of motor-cars might total $195,000,000 yearly after the war as compared with $132,000,000 averaged from 1936 to 1939. That estimate is based on three percent of a national income of six and a half billions.

Where are these motor-cars to be used? There will have to be new highways and wider highways. Why should not Newmarket make its suggestions about Ontario's new highways? There is still the Peterboro-Orangeville highway to be completed, and there is the old dream of a highway which would sweep into Newmarket from Armitage, along the former radial right-of-way, and on along the right-of-way to Sharon at least. Surely such a highway leading to Lake Simcoe and Haliburton would be one of the most popular the province could build.

There was an association formed some years ago in Sutton, to attract tourist traffic to the Simcoe and Haliburton playgrounds. It is time to start dreaming again and this time Newmarket might well lend a hand.

WAR ORPHANS

For some time the leaving of children "on their own" for the whole day has been a problem in Toronto and other large centres. Day nurseries have taken care of pre-school children, but school-age children are left to get their own meals and fend for themselves. As the search for labor becomes more desperate, the pressure on the home becomes more unfortunate.

Even in Newmarket, Aurora, and district, we think, there are children being left to fend for themselves. In normal times the public would object, and there would be formal charges of neglect. At the present time it is left to parents to decide for themselves. Mothers no doubt often think that the money they can earn now and save for the future will be of more advantage to their children than the care they might otherwise give them at the present time. There is many a mother too who no doubt wants to help out some hard-pressed employer or some other mother who thinks she can't carry on any longer without help.

We would make two suggestions, first, that employers should as far as possible try to make sure that they are not employing a married woman at the expense of her children, and possibly to make some allowance in hours of work that would enable her to do as much as possible for her children, and, second, that parents themselves bear in mind that the early years of a child's life are the most formative and that habits and characteristics established in the early years are likely to remain.

WHOE'ER GOES UP THIS WINDING STAIR

A friend visited the United States a couple of weeks ago. He went to a favorite restaurant in Michigan where he used to purchase a dinner at a cost of from $1 to $1.50. On this visit the minimum price was $2 and many customers were ordering dinners costing $2.50, $3 and $3.50. That is inflation at work. A person earns more but his earnings buy less.

In Canada we have been comparatively fortunate so far. Price and wage control and food rationing have maintained fairly well the buying power of the dollar.

It is in everybody's interest to maintain the buying power of the dollar, even though many groups may consider it in their particular interests to break the price ceiling or the wage ceiling.

It is being said at Ottawa that Canada now faces a crisis and a major decision, to be made by people or government. The rational war labor board has apparently recommended modification of the wage ceiling, as a result of representations made by organized labor. Afraid of the consequences, afraid that general wage increases might be a step up the "winding stair," the government is said to be considering an alternative plan, namely, acceptance of the Marsh social security report recommendation of a bonus of $9 per month per child.

Organized labor leaders favor wage increases, for the reasons, we suppose, that they would receive credit for wage increases, they would receive dues out of wage increases and also increased wages might prove a more permanent gain.

Additional money put in the hands of people who need it, whether it comes as bonus or wages, puts additional pressure on the available food and clothing and would tend to put prices up and values down—but if lower-paid families need additional income greatly in comparison with more fortunate fellow citizens they should have it.

As between wage increases and bonus, employers who are not paying excess profits tax will prefer the bonus. Most employers would prefer the bonus, we should guess, because they will not have to find the money either by reducing their tax payments or by getting permission to increase their prices.

Wage-earners themselves, we should think, would prefer the bonus, because it could still come to them after the war even at a time of unemployment, supplementing their unemployment insurance.

The government, we are told, intends to take one course or the other, and is not likely to take the third and hard way, though it might prove to be in the interests of even low-wage employees, namely, to stand fully by the wage and price ceilings. We do not blame the government. Democracy has advantages and disadvantages. This is one of the disadvantages, that government must yield to popular demand even when the populace may be shortsighted.

If the Progressive-Conservative and C.C.F. leaders were to make public statements urging the government to stand firm, then we might fairly expect the Liberals to risk the unpopularity involved in refusing the requests put forward by organized labor. But the opposition parties are silent or sympathetic with labor's demands. As we pointed out recently, the public unfairly blames the government for the inconveniences that result from the same "total war" that the public demands.

Canada needs an unpopular government today, one that would reduce public spending power. It might well increase the spending power of low-wage workers, but if it did it should also at the same time reduce the spending power of higher-income groups, through increased taxes or forced loans or a high-pressure continuous campaign for voluntary savings.

Those of us who live in northern York county won't decide this issue, but together with all the other people living in Canada we are deciding it. We must realize that two dollars that buy a basket of groceries is worth more than $2.50 that buys three quarters of a basket of groceries. We must bear in mind that we can't be at war in Europe without feeling the war at home. We can't expect to direct 40 percent of our effort toward war production, and still have enough consumer goods for everybody to spend all their income on or have all the goods they want. We can't expect our government to take the long view unless we take the long view.

We can't expect equality of income. We aren't paying the soldier "what he earns" and we aren't paying a lot of other people what they earn. We believe that the government should, so far as it is able, try to see that everyone gets the minimum income necessary for health and efficient work, but the government deserves co-operation, understanding and support in carrying out what has been, so far, a remarkably successful experiment in maintaining the buying power of the dollar.

FLOWERS AT SCHOOL

When Newmarket public and separate school pupils returned to work this fall they found a little more beauty around the buildings as a result of the work of the Newmarket Horticultural Society in co-operation with the teachers.

CONSTABULARY JUDGMENT

The 40 miles an hour speed limit was enacted to save gasoline. Police constables who use good judgment will not "time" motorists at the bottom of hills, where speeds often exceed 40 miles an hour, as the result of coasting, which saves, not wastes, gasoline.

SECRET OF GREATNESS

It is interesting to learn that John Bracken started life in an Ontario log cabin. If building log cabins would give us more John Brackens, we would advocate a post-war log cabin building program, but we rather think that it was something imparted to him by his parents, or his teachers or his Sunday-school that has made John Bracken so useful and so likeable a citizen.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

BUSINESS NOW A SIN

(Financial Post)

Few United church laymen have probably examined the report of the committee on Evangelism and Social Service, Toronto Conference, 1943.

Here are a few of the recommendations and views which that report puts forward.

Discussing plans for the postwar world the report comments that: "Many plans brought forward seem to be intended to operate under a continuance of the capitalistic system which perpetuates 'free enterprise and private initiative,' still leaving the means of production and distribution of the necessities of life in the hands of the privileged few, which system proved to be inadequate in pre-war days."

This report, which was distributed just prior to the Ontario election, states: "We would urge the necessity of political action . . . by open support of those candidates in dominion, provincial and municipal elections whose avowed policy most nearly coincides with our interpretation of the social action necessary to bring about a more just and equitable society in which all will have the opportunity to fulfill their God-given destiny."

The report goes on to urge the necessity of getting "a new way of doing the world's work."

Under the heading "The Church and Labor" the report states in part: "We believe that the next great battle of the kingdom of God is to be fought on the industrial and economic front. We do not suggest that an unjust and outmoded economic order is the only evil thing in our contemporary society, but it is our conviction that it is the major issue and marks the point at which the tension between the old order and the new reaches the upheaval stage."

The report declares that while "No one is disposed to regard the labor movement as synonymous with the kingdom of God," the United church and organized labor ought to "get together . . . both co-operating at the point of the major issue of the hour . . . There must be closer identification of organized religion with organized labor and a more courageous participation in the struggle of the workers on the part of the church." The report recommends that "responsible representatives of labor be invited to present their case to congregations at Sunday services or on other opportune occasions."

Are the sentiments of the majority of the clergy or people of the Toronto conference of the United church properly expressed in this document from the Committee on Evangelism and Social Service?

Is a section of United church clergy planning to establish itself as a political pressure group, as this document recommends?

The clear implication of this document is that businessmen members of the United church, as well as the businessmen members of other churches, are the unjustly favored beneficiaries of an "evil thing" which must be eradicated.

The "free enterprise and private initiative" system is put definitely in the category with sin of all kinds, including drunkenness, prostitution, stealing, swearing, etc.

Interesting, isn't it?

(Orillia Packet and Times)

Coupled with Col. Drew's recent demand for a clarification and strengthening of the terms of the empire partnership, and the clear cut policy of empire co-operation on which Premier Smuts won his recent election in South Africa, Premier Curtin's statement indicates a widespread realization throughout the nations of the Commonwealth that post-war planning should include, or be preceded by, organization through which their combined strength and influence can be made effective in the post-war world. After all, if Canada and the other nations of the Commonwealth are prepared to take part in an international body such as the League of Nations, or whatever succeeds that body, it is hard to see what objection there can be to providing for consultation and co-operation within the empire itself.

LIQUOR CONTROL

(Fort Erie Times-Review)

It does not seem to us that Premier Drew deserves acclaim for retaining Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon as chairman of the liquor control board of Ontario. Admittedly, the business of regulating supplies of alcoholic beverages is a difficult one to administer; and especially so since Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King put on "the full armor of God."

But so many arbitrary, unreasonable regulations have been put into effect by the LCBO in recent months that doubt as to the good judgment and temperamental congruity of its directing head is justifiable.

For example, Mr. Gordon, whose name shall not prejudice our opinion, must know of the wholly undesirable and irritating necessity for citizens in most urban localities to line up outside brewers' warehouses, sometimes for an hour or more, before they can make their legal purchases of beer; also, the futile journeys caused by warehouses selling out their quotas early, and closing before the appointed hour. Failure to correct this situation can only be interpreted as evidence of callous indifference to public inconvenience.

For the shortage of beer, Mr. Gordon is not responsible; that has been caused by Mr. King's restriction of production coupled with increased consumption. But the very purpose of rationing beer, or anything else, is defeated unless everyone gets his fair share of what is available. That has not been the case with beer. Those who can, and are willing to go early to the warehouse, and wait maybe for hours for their turn, are liable to get their full allotment; others are likely to get less—or none at all.

Obviously the present monthly ration of 36 small bottles or 18 large is higher than is justified by available supplies. Accordingly, it should be reduced to that point which would make it possible for every holder of a coupon book to obtain the quantity to which he is entitled—and that without tiresome waiting or finding the brewers' warehouse sold out before the legal hour of closing.

In the matter of spirits, no explanation was forthcoming, when the individual monthly quota was 133 ounces, why only one bottle could be obtained on any one day. People who required two bottles for some special occasion were compelled to make two visits to the liquor store on separate days. The extra visits usually caused a waste of gasoline and rubber in the case of Fort Erie, due to the location of the store. Mr. Gordon has only himself to blame for the prevailing belief that this regulation was purely capricious.

Many other arbitrary rulings could be cited, including the one which compelled all licensed hotel-keepers to buy a new stock of beer glasses when the WPTB permitted draught beer to be reduced to nine ounces for ten cents. But enough has been said to substantiate our belief that Premier Drew made a mistake when he re-appointed Mr. Gordon to his job.

Of People And Things

BY BREAD ALONE

By Isabel Inglis Colville

The greatest Teacher and Friend the world has ever known said that "man shall not live by bread alone" and I suppose it was never truer than now, when man needs to draw on his sources of spiritual life, as never before.

If we had thought merely of bread, which, I take it, represents all the purely material needs of life, we would never have entered this war, but had we not done so, the bread which feeds the spirit would have failed us, and we would have become of the earth, earthy.

But what started me off about bread, was the radio and I'm thinking of bread, as meaning food, comforts and all the little luxuries to which we have been accustomed so long that we accept them as our just due.

Listening to the radio, one begins to feel that this composite bread is a very large part of our life.

One gets the idea that there are so many wonderful products on the market that it's a shame one has not more time and money to sample them all.

Look at soap, for instance. According to the radio each kind of soap, which spreads its glories on the air, will do one of three things, or all three. It will make your skin a joy to behold, it will prevent "dishwater hands"—whatever they are—or it will wash your clothes with almost no effort on your part.

I've tried a good many, for I've a passion for trying things from recipes to growing all sorts of guests things—and they were all good soap, but they did NOT make my hands any softer or whiter nor did they cleanse clothes without a good application of strong-arm tactics.

So why should I weep over the woes of heroines who go on from agony to agony, while I search for THE soap of all time? I just jab blindly at any kind and say "I'll take that."

Then there are the various cereals, the coffees, the teas, the

KING WILL PAY $5 BONUS ON FOX PELTS

Reeve Thos. MacMurchy presided at the regular meeting of King township council, which was held at Armstrong's hotel, King City, on Sept. 4. All the members were present.

A resolution, moved by Councillor Wm. E. Barker and seconded by Deputy-Reeve L. B. Goodfellow, was passed instructing the clerk and solicitor to prepare a by-law for the payment of a bonus of $5 to anyone killing a fox within the township, upon taking the pelt to the clerk's office and taking an affidavit that the fox was killed within the township. This measure was taken "owing to the large number of foxes within the township and the damage to flocks of poultry which is causing severe loss to owners."

The clerk was asked, on the motion of Councillor E. M. Legge and Councillor Barker to procure 500 affidavit forms for the use of the township's livestock valuers and to send the forms to the valuers, advising them that in future the forms, duly accompanied by their valuator's certificate when returned to the clerk.

Payment of the township's July hospitalization account of $46.12 to W. W. Gardhouse, county treasurer, was authorized. Payment to Gordon Hunter of $20 and to Reuben Egan of $20 was authorized to cover the loss of livestock. Frank Williams, Wm. Bishop and Jas. Fuller were each paid $2 for veterinary services. On motion of Councillor Legge and Councillor C. E. Walkington the council decided to sell the several lots of plan 202 (formerly known as the Investments Securities Limited Lots) for $750 to C. A. Meadows of Richmond Hill. He is to pay $50 cash upon the signing of the agreement of sale and $300 cash on Oct. 15, 1943, and the balance of $350 with five percent interest on Oct. 15, 1944, and he is to assume all liability as to the corporation tax on these lots. The council ordered the preparation of the necessary deeds.

General accounts were ordered paid as follows: Frank Armstrong, rent for council meeting, $5; Nobleton postmaster, stamps, $11; Harry Wood, re cartage, 25 cents; Wm. Davis, constable's services and mileage, $13.20; Gus Parquhar, constable's services and mileage, $16.70; Canadian National Institute for the Blind, re indigent, $10; department of health, re insulin, $2.50; Thos. MacMurchy, re postage, $4; clerk of division court, re cutting garnishee, $8.10; road voucher, No. 9, $3,266.45; relief voucher, $48.41.

The council adjourned to meet again at the community hall, Nobleton, on Saturday, Oct. 2, at 9 a.m. or at the call of the chair.

Gathering the Sport Facts

There is much rejoicing in Toronto baseball circles these days. The Maple Leafs have ousted the Montreal Royals from the Governor's Cup series and thus hurdled what they figured to be their biggest opposition in their quest for entry into the Little World series.

Many outstanding players took part in the semi-final games, but without a doubt the outstanding player on either team was a member of the juniors from Montreal. He was the effervescent, fun-loving Max Macon. Never in our life have we heard of a pitcher batting in the clean-up spot of a batting order. Yet that's where Macon started in last Wednesday night's game and he came through with three hits in four times at bat. One of the base knocks was a double.

Macon isn't old as ball players go, yet he has been pitching since 1936 when he broke in as a St. Louis Cardinal farm-hand with Columbus of the American Association. In those days Macon wasn't a soft ball pitcher like he is now, relying almost exclusively on his stuff and cunning to outwit the opposing batters. Instead, in those days, he was an overpowering hardball thrower. His fast ball went sizzling into the catcher's decker and his curve ball had a whip-like snap.

Branch Rickey has said repeatedly that the Max Macon of that period had all the requisites of one of the brightest pitching prospects he has ever seen. Tremendous things were expected from Macon when he reported to the Cardinals in the spring of 1938 but the uncertainties of a baseball career intervened. Macon developed arm trouble. Almost overnight his fast ball disappeared, leaving behind only aches and pains in his left shoulder.

Two years ago the pain in his shoulder wouldn't let him pitch for more than a couple of innings at a time. That is, if the batters would let him stay around that long. Max never expects to get back his fast ball. That's gone, something he can never hope to retrieve. But he says he may be a better pitcher without it. Necessity has forced him to experiment. He has had to develop a new stock-in-trade and he is convinced that next year he can go back to the majors and win there regularly.

Only 27 years old, a great career could open for him. Macon's chief stock-in-trade is a replica of Carl Hubbell's famous screwball. In fact Hubbell taught him to throw it. It was in the spring of 1940 that Hubbell and Macon met and Hubbell taught the Dodger farm-hand all the finer points of his famous pitch. Max has mastered it so well that he uses it in every game.

During his arm trouble days in the minors, Max Macon thought seriously about turning to the outfield for a career. He always believed he could hit well enough to win a place there. When the Dodgers sent Macon down to the Royals a few weeks ago Macon asked to play in the outfield.

At first the idea didn't sound so good to Fresno Thompson, manager of the Royals. Then the Dodgers recalled Luis Olmo, the regular centre-fielder of the Montreal club, and an outfielder was needed. Finally, they turned to Macon and since that time he has more than held his end up. He is the leading batter on the Montreal club right now and his fielding has been up to par. So good in fact that they move Gibby Brack over to right field when Macon goes to the outfield.

But perhaps the outstanding characteristic of Macon is his love to win. Outside of old Jack Tising of the Buffalo club there is no one in the International League that can put on the crowd show that Macon can. Recently he was thrown out of the game for questioning a ball and strike decision from centre-field. Max couldn't see whether the decision was right or wrong from his position on the diamond but he had to have his fun.

The crowd likes to see Macon in action because they know there will be plenty of fireworks. The owners of the clubs like to see him because he is a box-office attraction. The only ones who don't like to see him are the opposing players because he makes no secret of the fact that if the need arose he would throw the bean-ball right at them.

ON 25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY NEWMARKET LADY IS DEEPLY INTO HER SECOND GREAT WAR

English-born Fred Lewis, M.M. and long service medal, whose wife lives at 134 Prospect St., Newmarket, has had some unpleasant experiences in two wars, but he has also had something to smile about.

In the first Great War he served in the British merchant marine until, after being torpedoed and on the open sea for 36 hours, he was discharged as medically unfit. He then served in the Canadian army until a German bomb deprived him of his right leg.

In this war he served in the Canadian army, at Newmarket camp as dietitian, until he was discharged as medically unfit. He thereupon joined the merchant marine and has been to Britain twice.

Both times he was in Britain he has seen his two sons, Redvers and George, who have both been overseas with the army over three years. His son-in-law, Lieut. M. A. Sugden, has also been overseas for three years.

Mrs. Lewis too knows something about war. She was before her marriage Margaret Ann Williams of Ottawa. Her father was killed overseas during the first Great War. She married Mr. Lewis, then a Canadian soldier, Sept. 23, 1918, just 25 years ago today, at St. James cathedral, Toronto.

They went to Britain to live and stayed there from 1919 to 1922, when they returned to Ottawa. Three years ago they came to Newmarket.

Besides having two sons and a son-in-law overseas, Mrs. Lewis has three brothers in the service. Sgt. Howard Williams and Cpl. Gordon Williams are overseas. Sgt. Stuart Williams has been invalided home from overseas.

Recalling her experiences in Britain after the last war, Mrs. Lewis doesn't think Canadian rationing is at all strict or burdensome. Mrs. Lewis showed The Era and Express some 1919 British ration books and cards which she has kept. The books have "spare spaces" in them which were never brought into use. One difference between Britain's rationing of that time and Canada's rationing today was that the British householder had to specify his retailers and stick with them.

MOUNT ZION CHURCH WAS ERECTED IN 1890

Mount Zion Mennonite Brethren in Christ church on the sixth line of East Gwillimbury was completely filled both morning and evening on Sunday for the 33rd annual anniversary of the church. The present building was erected in 1890, when Rev. O. B. Snyder was pastor. The main trustee at that time was Albert Watson, who continued to act in this capacity until his death this past spring.

The services of the day were in the charge of the pastor, Rev. H. Good. The front of the church was artistically decorated with many beautiful flowers. A special anniversary offering was taken towards redecorating the interior of the church.

The speaker for the day was Rev. W. J. Purdy, formerly of Sundre, Alta., now of Lion's Head, Ont., pastor in charge of the Mennonite churches on the Bruce Peninsula.

Speaking to capacity audiences both morning and evening, Mr. Purdy delivered stirring addresses from God's word, stating that even as the early pioneers had sacrificed much for Christ and the spiritual welfare of the community, so it was up to the present day to do the same. Mrs. Purdy, heard regularly over radio station CFOS, Owen Sound, was the soloist for the day, and brought messages in song, which were greatly enjoyed by those present.

May Plant Annuals Now For Early Summer Bloom

(By Rudy Renzels, Newmarket Horticultural Society)

Fall-sown annuals for early summer bloom are a possibility that most gardeners overlook. It simply means that you select those that are hardy, in other words, those that would usually self-sow.

Sown this month, many of these will germinate and live over winter as seedlings, depending on where you live as to the relative hardness.

You might try to sow some of the following, either where they are to bloom, or if they are not too difficult to transplant, in rows in a cold-frame: cornflower, cosmos, calendula, California poppy, snapdragon, nigella, anagallis, nicotiana, crowfoot, and annual larkspur. If you are in a sheltered spot you might be able to use ageratum, annual phlox and many others.

Now is the time to move and divide perennials. They like a sunny, well-drained, situation. See that the crown is only two inches under the surface, and be sure, in dividing the plant, that each division has several buds. In order to see the buds, it is a good policy to shake off all loose earth or to wash the roots. Work some well-rotted manure in the soil around the roots. Do not use fresh manure. If necessary, most perennials may be moved in early October, but the roses are better left till spring.

Save all your this year's seed catalogues. Many seedsmen say that they may not be able to send out catalogues next year, at least not with colored illustrations, and the one you have on hand will be handy for reference.

Cook's United church, Pefferlaw, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening when Vila Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mr. Doggett officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Howard Bodley. Mrs. Doggett was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of blue brocade taffeta with a blue halo and matching floor-length veil. She carried red roses and bouvardia. Her sisters, Miss Audrey Hartwick and Miss Evelyn Hartwick, were the attendants, wearing street-length dresses of pink and blue net over taffeta with matching halos and shoulder-length veils. They carried pink and yellow roses.

The groom's brother, Mr. Fred Greenwood, was best man, and Mr. Roy Parkins, Peterboro, and Mr. James Weir, Pefferlaw, were ushers.

The citation reads: "Wing Commander Chadburn has led formations on very many sorties during which 16 enemy aircraft have been destroyed, six of them by this officer. In addition, three E-boats have been successfully attacked. Wing Commander Chadburn has displayed exceptional leadership and great skill while his fine fighting spirit has set a most inspiring example."

Overnight Scheme Finds Rangers At Shadow Lake

Officers and senior N.C.O.'s of the 2nd battalion, Queen's York Rangers, were favored with perfect weather for their annual fall scheme at Shadow Lake. Lieut.-Col. Carl Reeve, E.D., newly appointed C.O., was in charge of the scheme.

Saturday afternoon and early evening were spent in Bren gun carrier work, judging distances, scouts and patrols, followed by a showing of motion pictures including "Kill or be killed." A sing-song was enjoyed. After an early Sunday breakfast the day's proceedings got under way with flanking and frontal platoon attacks, infiltration methods and the use of smoke, as well as battle drill and camouflage.

Church Officials Make Plans To Conserve Fuel

Aurora United church officials have taken the lead locally in an effort to conserve fuel. Under the leadership of T. C. McLeod, chapel steward, and Dr. C. J. Devins, chairman of the property committee, an effort is being made to schedule all functions and meetings at the church for one day each week, tentatively set at Thursday, once the fuel-burning season arrives.

Efforts are also being made to encourage church groups to meet as often as possible in the homes of the members.

Fortunately, the church has its fuel requirements on hand, but officials feel that they should conserve as much as possible.

It is thought likely, in place of the usual Monday night meetings, the Y.P.U., for instance, will meet following the Sunday evening service. During the months when fuel is not required, the meetings of organizations may be held as usual.

College Registration Runs To 160 Students

One hundred and sixty students are registered at St. Andrew's College this fall, one of the largest registrations since the school moved to Aurora. The middle and upper school classes are filled. There are still a few boys to come, Headmaster J. C. Garratt told The Era and Express.

"Most of our senior students of last year are in the armed forces," said Mr. Garratt, "but we have an increased representation of students from South America and the West Indies."

Among the changes noted in the staff is the addition of H. Kendall, in charge of athletics.

Mr. Kendall was formerly at Guelph Collegiate Institute. Norman Lane replaces E. M. Fleming, in charge of mathematics. Last year Mr. Lane was in charge of athletics.

Mr. Grant, formerly of the staff of Beamsville high school, has also joined the staff. William Nicholls heads the junior school, replacing Mr. Thiele.

Miss Margaret McKay is the new headmaster's secretary, and Mrs. Nicholls, Aurora, is the bursar's secretary.

Miss Muriel Thompson, R.N., replaces Miss Grace Bond as school nurse. Miss Bond, a daughter of Herbert Bond, Toronto, former Aurora resident, has left the school to become superintendent at a North Bay hospital.

Miss Gay Swain is lower school matron and Miss M. Wilson replaces Mrs. Sanderson as upper school matron. Most of the other members of the staff are back at their old posts.

German Broadcast Says Bob Case Is Prisoner

Mr. and Mrs. Lancelot Case have been given some hope that their son, Sgt.-Gnr. Robert Case, R.C.A.F., who was reported missing two weeks ago, may be a prisoner of war. Word has been received from Ottawa that a German radio broadcast, picked up by the R.C.A.F., reports the Aurora boy as a prisoner in Germany. It is expected that it will be some weeks before there will be any official verification of the report.

Previous to their departure for Toronto to enter training as nurses, Lorraine and Patricia Gunton were presented with umbrellas by the various organizations of Aurora Baptist church. Rev. A. R. Park made the presentation address. Representatives of the various organizations were present. Both girls served as Sunday-school teachers and were prominent in church work.

Teasdale has a senior club lined up for action in a strong border peninsula cities set-up. Ab. Wright of Collingwood is one of the players included in his plans. American hockey is improving each year, he says, and the fans are becoming more numerous too.

his many friends in Aurora and Newmarket. It is just 16 years ago that he lined up with Newmarket Juniors in the O.H.A. finals against Toronto Marlboros, who took the title. Next year he was with Toronto Vics, and then to pro ranks. Right now, with players scarce, he looks capable of holding down a regular starting berth but says definitely the answer is "no," a decision he made two years ago.

Capt. Teddy Graham, first sports officer at Newmarket camp, arrived back from overseas a few weeks ago. Graham, who was a member of the famous Owen Sound Greys champs and then played professional hockey with Maroons, and Chicago Blackhawks, reverted from the rank of major to lieutenant to go overseas with the 1st Hussars regiment, which includes quite a few North York boys. He was assigned to north African warfare for special training and in the Sicilian attack by official record was the second Canadian to land on the Italian toe-nail Island. Now he is back in Canada to do special instructional work with the armored corps.

Jack Portland, big N.H.L. defenceman of Les Canadiens and before that with Boston, who hails from Collingwood, is stationed at Camp Borden now with the provost corps. Don't be surprised to see the big fellow in action on the local hockey front with the Aurora R.C.O.C. depot, along with several other big-name performers. Staff Simpson is busy these days lining up some high class talent to defend that O.H.A. title.

Dick Fowler, the Toronto lad who pitched fine baseball with the Leafs and then went to play for Connie Mack's Athletics, is another big sports figure to hit the Borden scene in recent days. He is playing hardball now for an infantry centre, to add considerable fillip to the league.

Ronnie Kyle, ace basketball of Aurora high a few years back, left this week for Davidson, Sask., where the tall pilots go for training. Kyle, who is still a youngster, was around six feet two when he played basketball here but has sprouted now to six five in uniform and looks every inch a flier. He has been playing R.C.A.F. basketball in Toronto but expects his court career is pretty well finished now. Practically all the lads he played with are with the pigeons too.

Churchill, back in the early thirties, was one of the hottest centres of district softball and at most tournaments could be found collecting the pay-off money as well as doing right by themselves in league competition. For a brief moment a few weeks ago at Innisfil picnic the championship team of 1930 was reunited in all its glory and, despite creaking legs and sore arms and bald heads, again managed to pick up the chips. Just for memory's sake the team was composed of George, Jack, Mac and Bill Constable, Ralph Reive, "Mac" Stewart, Ernie Wouch, R. J. Houghton, and Jack ("Cowboy") Reive as hurler.

Hurricanes won their opening football game in the O.R.F.U. and we still marvel at the way the air force gets things done on the sports front. It is only a few weeks ago that Doug Smylie was a corporal with army service corps and was scintillating in army track meets, including July 1 at Newmarket. Now the former Balm Beach star is a flier and on the football field. The same goes for Tom Glenn, giant Montreal and Ottawa wingman, who only a few weeks ago was taking armored corps training.

Bowser A.C. won the Davisville honors from Ostranders, conquerors of No. 23 B.T.C. after a hard fought series, only four games being necessary.

Keith Davis, former Aurora junior hockeyist and top tennis and badminton player of the district for some years, now a sergeant with the R.C.A.F. on convoy duty, became a proud father the other day as little Miss Heather Jean made her debut in Toronto.

Staff Cotton, genial rotund maestro of sports and shoes at the Aurora ordnance depot has an athletic career behind him which few people realize. A Yorkshireman from the drop of the hat, the cigar-smoking Cotton in his day was one of the best soccer players in England, performing at fullback for the famous Sheffield United club. Just to prove athletic ability wasn't confined to "Amby" alone, his brother was a topnotcher at the back position too for Manchester United.

But it was not at soccer alone he was a stand-out, but also in wrestling, boxing and gymnastics. For 15 years he conducted one of the largest physical culture classes in England at Sheffield, with enrolments well over 200 at their peak. For three years he won honors as the best proportioned gymnast in England, boasting a perfect 18 1/2 inch development of neck, bicep, leg, no mean feat, as anyone who has had gym experience can tell you.

Weighting 195 pounds against a 50-pound handicap, he once wrestled Graeco-Roman style for 90 minutes to a draw against the famous Tom Mottley, heavyweight wrestling champion of England, and a firm friendship was established which saw Mottley become his partner. Nearly every Thursday night he can be found watching Frank Tunney's pachyderms in action in the squared circle in Toronto, even tho' he knows most of the bouts are determined beforehand.

After some years in the United States he turned out for soccer with the now defunct Toronto Caledonian club, which for some years was one of the outstanding clubs in the Queen City. He has done a fine job this year with the local Depot soccer team and, if he could find time and equipment for his boys, he would have the local Depot athletes right at the top in all fields. Right now he is busy as can be supervising the output of 3,000 pairs of army shoes a week at the local plant but vows that next year it will be a different story for sports in Aurora. If he has anything to do about it, we doff our chapeau to Staff Cotton for his fine work.

Believe it or not. At a distance of 12 feet, Lieut. Nat Rasmick, with the U.S. army at Savannah, Georgia, recently tossed 32 consecutive ringers at horseshoes. There has been a great revival of horseshoe pitching among men of the armed forces and we are surprised that, with gasoline rationing and sports equipment hard to procure more horseshoe tossing is not prevalent in small-town Ontario.

Tommy Myers, former Newmarket and Pickering College hockey star and the last two years hockey and rugby coach at Pickering, at last reports was definitely army bound, provided the Rosetown, Sask., boy could get by a leg injury sustained in prep. school competition. Tommy has done a fine job at McCutley hall and last winter was fast developing into one of the best hockey referees in amateur circles.

Bert Hedges, well-known Toronto hockey referee, who is no stranger to these parts, has been selected to perform in N.H.L. ranks this winter.

Harry Draper, former Mount Albert footballer and Newmarket mortician, is now stationed with the army medical corps at Camp Borden.

Harvey Anderson, former Zephyr-Sutton pitcher who has been with the armored corps at Borden, is now posted to an eastern Canada station.

Down in the Maritimes too as a radio technician with the R.C.A.F. is Bill Kerr, diminutive Aurora high basketballer and all-round athlete, who despite his size did a good job always.

Bill Tims is readying himself for his 13th season in the moneyed ranks as professional hockey has again received the greenlight, and the Chicago Blackhawks, apparently less seriously struck by the war than most clubs, prepares for a big year. With Apps, Drillon, Taylor, Hamill and many others departed for the services, "Sweet William" should have a real chance to cop the scoring honors this winter. Hawks and Bruins right now look like the teams to beat, with Detroit, Toronto, and Rangers harder hit and Les Canadiens on paper still looking a pretty drab outfit.

Pat Vernon, one of the old home-brew lacrosse stars and a great promoter of sport among the youngsters in canal-town a few years back, received a nice boost from the lads last week and we hasten to send belated congratulations to Counsellor Joe Spillite and his co-workers for their fine effort. Pat, unfortunately, has not been in good health for some time. It is refreshing to see sportsmen aid one another. Now that a start has been made, there is no reason the Newmarket group can't add to the fund. Too often men like Vernon who have made a real contribution to the community are entirely ignored. The same goes for lads who are injured on the sports field or arena and have to bear their own expenses and less of revenue.

Vernon produced some mighty fine young athletes in both lacrosse and hockey. We well remember good junior lacrosse teams which had such performers as "Buck" Rose, Archie Doddemeade, Harry Thoms, Ossie Gilkes, "Shorty" Turan, Saunders, Art. Kirbyson, on their roster, and a later edition, with Harry Grainger, Derb. Harford, "Chuck" Bennitz, "Hoosier" Hughes, Cliff Gilles, Ted Brewer and others performing smartly. Pat was always willing to co-operate with other centres too in helping to improve conditions or field a stronger team.

St. Andrew's College presents a real sight these days, as with one of the largest registrations in some years the rugby fields are going full swing. This week the team took on Pickering College in an exhibition tilt and in October the "Little Big Four" will get under way. Most of last year's football team are on active service, but a nucleus is on hand and many experienced newcomers. H. Kendall of Lansing, who formerly taught at Guelph C.I., along with Mr. Grant, another newcomer, are looking after the sports program.

Last year Norman Lane was in charge and the Saints, because of lack of material, went through their worst season on record, being a doormat for the other schools. This is not likely to happen again and we hope Messrs. Kendall and Grant will be able to get the Andreans going full blast again. Both the material and spirit are there if they can be brought to the fore.

Les Beazer, former manager of Toronto Ravina rink and a real go-getter, has made application to the town of Aurora to either rent the rink or be appointed manager. The decision now rests with the town property committee, and it would be well to remember the declining revenue in recent years from the rink. Best year the town had was when a winning hockey team was in action but we have always thought either private management or a promoter for arena activities would be the best way to increase revenue. This is not by way of criticizing town employees or the work of the past but there should be no reason why the present privileges granted school children and increased returns for the rink could not go hand-in-hand. Weather has of course a big effect on the returns possible but, with those anxious and willing to run teams and stage events at a low club, it remains for someone to do something about it all, and a manager or the profit motive of private enterprise might just be the answer.

When it comes to saving coal—Patriotism and common sense go hand in hand

FARSIGHTED householders are seeing the urgent need of preparing their homes now against this winter's coal shortage. They are acting now!

HEATING SYSTEMS MUST BE EFFICIENT: HOMES SHOULD BE ADEQUATELY INSULATED.

Here are some jobs you should be doing NOW!

- 1 Have your entire heating system inspected. Order necessary repairs.
- 2 Have your furnace thoroughly cleaned by a competent man. Insulate furnace and pipes where necessary.
- 3 Be sure that you have sufficient storm windows and that all windows and doors fit tightly. Have cracks in walls repaired. Weatherstrip wherever it is necessary. Consider seriously the insulation of ceiling and walls.

Many homes waste as much as 60% of their fuel through inefficient heating equipment, inadequate insulation and other heat losses. Winter is just around the corner. Prepare NOW!

11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. Rev. C. E.
Fockler, Maple, a former minister here, will be the guest speaker. Special music will be rendered by the choir.

Mrs. Geo. Hamilton and Mr.

denly on Friday evening. While not in good health, he had been able to be around until Friday.

The W.A. and W.M.S. held a successful tea and meeting last week despite the rainy weather.
The hostesses were Mrs. Rutledge, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs.

Quite a number from this district attended Lindsay fair on held at 11 o'clock and the evening service at 8 o'clock.

ing instead of the usual supper this

Six cases of careless driving and one of dangerous driving were before Magistrate W. N. Robinson in York County police court here on Tuesday.

The charge of dangerous driving was against Joseph VanWard, Toronto, and was adjourned until next week at the request of Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C. The defendant was allowed bail of $500.

A charge of careless driving against Harold G. McKay, Toronto, was also adjourned.

"You are fortunate that you do not face a more serious charge, dangerous driving," Magistrate Robinson told Alexander McRitter, Toronto, who pleaded guilty to the charge of "driving without due care and attention to other persons using the highway."

According to Howard Forbes, Belle Ewart, Simcoe county, on Sept. 6 he was driving north on Yonge St. when on approaching the intersection at Eagle St. he stopped at a red light. He stated that a southbound car driven by the defendant turned out of a line of traffic and crashed into his car, causing damage between $200 and $250.

Provincial Constable Alex Ferguson testified that when he arrived at the scene at about 2.50 p.m., shortly after the collision had taken place, he found the accused's car on the east side of the highway damaged to the extent of about $250. He estimated the damage to Mr. Forbes' car at about $200.

The officer stated that when he questioned Mr. McRitter about the cause of the accident, the latter told him that he had been driving in a line of traffic and was unable to stop when the light at the intersection turned red, so pulled out to his left.

Magistrate Robinson fined Mr. McRitter $25 and costs of $6.50, with an alternative of 30 days in jail.

His worship imposed a fine of $15 and costs of $2 or 15 days on Fred Kirby, Islington, who also pleaded guilty to careless driving on Yonge St.

Constable Ferguson told his worship that at 2.20 p.m. on Sept. 4 he observed the defendant driving a roadster in which were a number of passengers. He stated that this car was cutting in and out of traffic and at one time when cutting out on a hill forced an approaching car to go on to the shoulder of the road in order to avoid an accident.

Fines of $10 and costs of $2 or ten days were imposed on George Heint and Anthony Thomas, both of Toronto, who pleaded guilty to the charges of careless driving laid against them.

Constable Ferguson said that he observed Mr. Thomas travelling north on Yonge St. and crossing the white line in the middle of the highway at a time when it was dangerous to encroaching traffic.

Constable Ferguson stated that Mr. Heint had a trailer attached to his car and was passing another car on a hill on Yonge St.

James Hayden, Toronto, pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving on Yonge St. on July 23, but his worship judged him responsible for the accident in which his car became involved and fined him $10 and costs of $8.50.

According to Euger Des Roches, Toronto, he was driving south on Yonge St. when a car driven by the defendant, at the end of a line of northbound traffic, suddenly turned left in front of his car without giving any warning that he was going to do so.

The witness stated that he had been travelling between 20 and 25 miles an hour and was unable to avoid colliding with the other car. He said that the damage done to his car amounted to $63.

Mr. Hayden told his worship that he had given the signal that he was going to make the turn but that in the act of turning his car had stalled.

"I'll have to make a conviction," stated Magistrate Robinson. "If I am satisfied that the accused's car should never have made the left turn. A man making a left turn does so at his own expense and assumes any responsibility for whatever might happen. I think the accused is lucky that he was not charged with the more serious charge of dangerous driving."

This sort of thing happens too often. A person driving gets to within a few feet of another car when all of a sudden the other car turns out in front of him. I think that a recommendation should be made to the department that in cases where left turns have been made that the department should cancel the operator's licenses.

A fine of $50 and costs of $12 was imposed on Joseph Irving, Jackson's Point, whom his worship found guilty in police court last week of keeping a common "gaming house". At that time the case was adjourned until this week for the sentence to allow time for the gaming machine, which he ordered to be confiscated along with its contents, to be given to the court. The machine will be held by the court for 30 days, at the end of which time it will be destroyed by the court clerk and any money in it turned over to the provincial government.

Two teen-aged Toronto youths, one 17 and the other 18, were each found guilty of illegal possession of liquor and each fined $20 and costs of $15.00 or 20 days in jail. Both youths pleaded guilty to the charges.

"On Sept. 4 at 10.20 p.m., while patrolling Mossington park in Georgina township in company with Constable Hill, I heard singing in a car in the park," testified Constable George Foster. "Upon investigating we found the two accused sitting in the car with open bottles of beer in their hands."

The officer stated that when he searched the car he found a case of beer. He said that when he asked the youths who owned the beer they told him that it belonged to another person who was in the dance hall. When he told them to get this man from the hall, they returned about ten minutes later and said that he had gone.

"There are really two offences here, one of illegal possession and the other that they are under age," stated the crown. "You know, your struggle; it is a passion, I love to teach. I love to teach as a painter loves to paint, as a musician loves to play, as a singer loves to sing, as a strong man rejoices to run a race.

"Teaching is an art—an art so great and so difficult to master that a man or a woman can spend a long life at it, without realizing much more than his limitations and mistakes and his distances from the ideal. There never has been in the world's history a period when it was more worth-while to be a teacher than in the twentieth century."

Mr. McCulley also read a definition of a teacher: "The teacher is a prophet. He lays the foundations of tomorrow. The teacher is an artist. He works with the precious clay of unfolding personality."

"The teacher is a builder. He works with the higher and finer values of civilization. The teacher is a friend. His heart responds to the faith and devotion of his students."

"The teacher is a citizen. He is selected and licensed for the improvement of society. The teacher is a pioneer. He is always attempting the impossible and winning out."

"The teacher is a believer. He has abiding faith in the improvability of the human race."

"Miss Holladay would never let the board down," said W. H. Eves, former board chairman. "Her work has told for itself in the boys and girls who have gone through her hands. She has taught them not only the departmental work, but manhood and womanhood."

"I hope that Miss Holladay enjoys her leisure, and that she sees, as she has already seen, many of her pupils rise to success in life. I do not mean wealth. Fortune is not the thing we should work for. It is to do something worth-while for your country."

Two students of the Alexander Muir school, of which Miss Holladay was principal, were honored. Miss Holladay, who did not know that she herself was to be honored, presented a bouquet to Mary Lou Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Little, winner of the Ontario Education Association public and separate schools oratorical contest last spring.

Trustee Frank Bothwell presented ten silver dollars to Miriam Ryman as a prize for the highest standing in Grade VIII last year.

Mrs. Maire Davies Jackson, Mrs. Betty Holmes Beer, Mrs. Marjorie Armour and Principal H. A. Jackson provided delightful musical entertainment.

worship, that we are particularly concerned with the source of the beer. A person should not give liquor to those under age. If the youths do not tell you gave them the beer they are liable to receive a jail sentence.

On the stand the 18-year-old youth told his worship that he had given his age as 21 when applying for a permit at the brewer's warehouse in North Toronto. He had purchased the beer at Jackson's Point on this permit and had since destroyed it.

His worship ordered the beer confiscated.

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed on Sidney Laute, Aurora, found guilty on a charge of failing to have an operator's license.

Found guilty on two charges of illegal parking, once on Timothy St., Newmarket, and once on Main St., Arnold Winter, R. R. 2, Newmarket, was fined $1 and costs of $1 for each offence. Constable Kenneth Mount laid the charges.

Four motorists were fined $15 and costs for exceeding the speed limit. They were John J. Dick, Toronto, who was fined $15 and costs of $1.50; John J. Dick, Toronto, who was fined $15 and costs of $1.50; John J. Dick, Toronto, who was fined $15 and costs of $1.50; John J. Dick, Toronto, who was fined $15 and costs of $1.50.

JUVENILE GARDENS WIN PRAISE OF EXPERTS

"There were 150 entries in the public and separate school children's Victory garden contest," Norman Williams, president of the Newmarket Horticultural Society, told those who had gathered to view the flowers and vegetables from the gardens displayed at the King George school on Monday evening.

Mr. Williams said that the society had started out by offering six prizes, but that the gardens were so well planned and looked after that they were increased to 12 prizes, and later on to 15 prizes.

In announcing the prize-winners, Mr. Williams said that it was too bad that some of the young gardeners had gone away for summer holidays, as weeds got the upper hand in their gardens.

Three little Scotch lassies, Brita and Sheila and Rona Inglis were tied for the ninth, tenth and eleventh prizes. Brita's garden was laid out in the shape of a V, with three dots and a dash, and Sheila's garden was as much like a Union Jack as it was possible to make it, but the weeds got ahead of them during the holidays when they were away.

"This is only a start and we'll go on to something bigger and better," Bernard McHale, of the separate school board, said when called on for a few comments.

LOYAL TRUE BLUES TAG FOR HOME SATURDAY

The members of L.T.B., Newmarket, are holding their annual tag day on Saturday. The proceeds will be given to the Loyal True Blue and Orange home at Richmond Hill.

"The home takes in little homeless children and gives them care and schooling that they would not otherwise receive," it is stated. "As children they are taught to be useful, loyal citizens, for some day they will take their place in the world as young men and women and must be ready to defend the rights of a free country."

To date there are 20 young men from the home who have answered the call to the colors. One was killed in action at Dieppe. One sailor has also lost his life.

"At present the home is greatly handicapped. Of the staff of 15 it took to operate it formerly, there are only seven left to keep it going."

"The Scouts have been without a leader for some time. They have depended entirely on leadership from outside sources. This year the children had a successful Victory garden."

FRIENDS SHOULD NOT WRITE TO WAR PRISONERS

Communications were received yesterday by A. D. Evans and C. E. McDonald from the department of national defence, next-of-kin of Canadian prisoners of war in Germany, concerning mail to the prisoners.

Unfortunately, due to war conditions, difficulties beyond control have arisen with regard to the transport of mail on the European continent, and relatives and friends of prisoners are asked not to write often than once a week to avoid an unusually large number of letters to a few prisoners.

Steps have been taken to advise prisoners of the situation. If and when a greater flow of mail can be permitted, the department will make it known.

You Can Use Swings, Don't Take Them Away

Editor, The Era and Express: The officer commanding this training centre, Lieut.-Col. R. B. Harkness, D.S.O., has requested me to write to you asking if you will publish the enclosed appeal to the children and older boys and girls of Newmarket and surrounding district.

Col. Harkness wishes to thank the citizens of Newmarket and surrounding district for their willing co-operation with this centre in its task of training recruits for the army and for their patriotic forbearance of many small inconveniences caused by the necessity of such training.

Your publishing of the attached will be very much appreciated. Yours sincerely, I. R. Menzies, captain and adjutant, No. 23 (Base) Training Centre, Newmarket, Sept. 11, 1943.

Notice Especially Directed to Children and Older Boys and Girls of Newmarket and Surrounding District.

Along the roads, lanes and paths within three miles of Newmarket will be seen in increasing numbers a bit of board, about 12 inches long, fixed to poles or fence posts. These are painted black and thereon is a "conventional sign," i.e., the sign used on military maps to indicate roads, woods, buildings etc. Along one of the streams is a physical training course—a series of logs, logs across the stream, rope swings and other fixtures used to make men physically fit.

In some of the fields in this same area are figure targets, dummy rifles, machine guns, mortars, etc., used in the training of recruits to be soldiers. Without this knowledge and training a soldier is at a great disadvantage when he meets the enemy.

Don't remove or destroy any of these things. You may use the

1 MOVIES

John Steinbeck, the unknown man of literature, whose stirring novel, "The Moon Is Down," has just been made into one of the outstanding pictures of the year by 20th Century-Fox, actually worked to acquire his reputation as a reclus.

Despite the fact that the author spent several weeks in Hollywood during the filming of the picture, which opens Monday and Tuesday at the Strand theatre, Hollywood is still in the dark about what he looks like, what kind of a fellow he is or anything else about him.

Steinbeck made only two "public" appearances. These were when he edged quietly onto the set where his current best seller was being unfolded before the cameras. It wasn't until after Steinbeck had left that the actors in the picture knew the author had watched the shooting.

Steinbeck has valid reasons for shying from the spotlight. As he explained to Nunnally Johnson, who wrote the screen adaptation and produced "The Moon Is Down," he gets most of the material for his dramatic novels from the ordinary, average people. Obviously, if these people knew the man in their midst was a writer, they would not talk as freely nor give Steinbeck the opportunity to study their ways of living.

In "The Moon Is Down" Steinbeck has created a powerful and gripping drama of the valiant Norwegians and their unconquerable spirit in the face of the cruel Nazi invasion.

With a hand-picked cast, 20th Century-Fox has brought to the screen a human and touching picture that will live like a flame in the hearts of all freedom-loving Americans.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke plays the part of the ruthless Nazi commander of the invasion troops. Henry Travers, the kindly, aged mayor of the little Norwegian village, Lee J. Cobb, the philosophical old doctor; Dorris Bowdon, the wistful young widow; and Margaret Wycherly, the mayor's wife. Irving Pichel directed the picture.

CREE INDIAN MINISTER WILL SPEAK AT FESTIVAL

Rev. Canon Hicks, padre of Newmarket military camp, gave the address at the morning service at St. Paul's Anglican church on Sunday.

The altar was beautifully decorated with gladioli placed there by Mrs. James Miller in memory of her father.

The response to the appeal by the W.A. for financial help with the overseas Christmas boxes was quite satisfactory. The plate will be at the door again next Sunday for anyone wishing to contribute.

The W.A. has commenced its regular weekly Dorcas meetings and last Thursday the 19 woven rugs, the result of last season's work, were up for sale and were all bought at once.

The harvest festival will be Sunday, Oct. 3, with special Thanksgiving music by the choir. Rev. Canon Ahnakew, B.A., L.Th., Fort St. James Mission, will give an address on his work in the diocese of Saskatchewan.

Canon Ahnakew, a Cree Indian, was born in the Sandy Lake reserve and was educated under church auspices, taking his degrees of B.A. and L.Th. in 1912 at Emmanuel College in Saskatoon, having been made a priest in the same year.

In 1924 he was appointed general missionary for the western parts of the diocese and in 1930 he was made supervising missionary of the whole of the Indian work.

The Parochial Guild are holding a social evening in the parish hall tomorrow (Friday) evening.

Sutton Firemen Check Spreading Cottage Fire

Three Orchard Beach cottages were completely destroyed and four others were damaged when a fire fanned by a strong southwest breeze, raged along a row of frame summer cottages on Sunday. All of the cottages were Toronto owned, and the loss is estimated at about $5,000.

The cottages were owned by Miss Rita L. Young, Albert E. Hutchison and Mrs. Nina Mairs. Township Constable Carl Morton, Roche's Point, said the blaze started on the roof of the Hutchison cottage.

When the alarm was sounded and a bucket brigade organized, the two neighboring cottages were also ablaze about the roofs. The cottages were close together on 50-foot lots.

When the Sutton fire department arrived, the cottages were beyond saving. Fire Chief William Parks and the firemen directed their attention to four other cottages which by then had been set afire by wind-blown blazing shingles. The gasoline pumper was set beside the lake and water drawn from this source.

Constable Morton said it was the most serious lakeshore fire for ten years.
